County Agent's Notes

By HOWARD SIMMONS

Happy New Year Folks. Just relax. There is nothing so pressing on the farm that you can't have the day off. Have fun. Sit down and let that big New Year's dinner lull you into that wonderful half awake-half asleep feeling. New Year comes just once a year, so enjoy yourself—you can work tomorrow.

PASTURES

Good advice is to forget about last summer's drouth. However, make some arrangements so that if another comes next year, you will be ready for it. Plan now to save some of that surplus spring grazing that most of us always have. Plan some temporary grazing areas to use in case of drouth.

Now is a good time to repair fences and to build any new ones that you need. This is the season for controlling coud and wild onions in pastures. See your County Agent for specific details.

COTTON

Cotton growers should check up on their supply of planting seed for the 1953 crop. Take a representative one-pound sample of your seed and send it to the nearest seed testing facility for a germination test. Keep all high quality seed of 80 per cent germination or above.

Make arrangements to have these seeds delinted and treated before the rush of planting season. If you do not have enough seed on hand, locate a supply and buy them early.

Make sure that you by seed of one of the recommended varieties - Bobsaw 1-A, soils, plant Coker 100-W or Empire with strain.

By planting only one variety of cottonseed on a farm, it is easier to keep planting seed pure and to preserve variety characteristics.

These variety characteristics including high yields per acre, number bolls per pound of lint, high present lint turnout, length of staple, tensile strength and uniformity or fibers, can best be preserved through one variety community cotton programs.

DAIRY

Fall breeding is one key to better dairying. Fall freshening cows are not bothered by flies and other insects nearly so much as spring freshening cows.

Spring freshening cows will be at peak production when pastures begin to get dry and unpalatable. Fall freshening cows will be nearing the end of their production period at this time, and will not be bothered too much by adverse heat.

Too, cows freshening in the fall will come into peak production at a time when overall milk production is at its lowest and demand is highest.

Many Many Times!
WHEN your property is damaged - then the value of your insurance proves to be many times greater than what you have ever paid in premiums. That's when you're mighty glad you kept up your policies!

HOME AGENT NOTES

By Miss Sarah Weaver, Home Agent

A Happy New Year to Everyone in Hancock County from your Home Demonstration Agent, Sarah L. Weaver.

At New Year's, there is a lot of fruit in homes. Why not take some of the oranges and lemons, peel, scald them, dry them and grind them into a coarse powder? Prepared this way, they make excellent flavoring for sauces, puddings and cakes.

A few pieces of dried orange rind kept in the tea canister will give tea a delicious fragrance and flavor.

In proportion to cost, small oranges usually yield more juice than larger ones.

Leftover fruit juices (if not too sweet) may be frozen in the ice trays of your refrigerator. These frozen cubes may be used as a distinct addition to drinks for both flavor and color. A sprig of mint or a maraschino cherry, frozen into each cube, also add an attractive touch to cold drinks.

The next time you have iced tea, why not try this idea. Make some lemon juice ice cubes by diluting lemon juice with water and freezing in your ice cube trays. When ready to serve the tea, drop cubes into the tea. This chills and flavors the tea as it has same time.

A NEW WINTER COAT

Christmas is over, and now it's time to think about yourself and your needs or wants. Mrs. Home-maker. Does a new winter coat come under this heading. Numbers of stores have clearance sales after Christmas, and you might find just the coat you want and at a "bargain."

But be sure it is a bargain—in wearing qualities, color and style, as well as in price.

After you find one that you think is just right in color to go with your present wardrobe, look at the fabric. It is a novelty one, or one that will be good for years? Most homemakers average five to eight years wear from their winter coats.

Having settled on the color and fabric, now try it on to see what the line will do to you. Look at it in a full-length mirror as you wear it. If the shorter coats are good on your figure, you may still need to think of what your garments will look like below the shorter coat. Usually the short coats are smarter with straight line skirts.

How comfortable is it? Does the collar hug the back of your neck? Does it fit through the shoulders and waistline with ease? If it is to be worn over suits, this fit is particularly important.

Examine the tag. See what the coat is made of and if it has a special finish such as a water or moth repellent finish. Is the finish permanent?

Is the lining firmly woven and colorfast to perspiration? If the lining is one of the metal-backed heat-retention types, you might be interested in research which showed that upon dry cleaning the metal has a tendency to flake off. You may want to leave the manufacturers time to perfect this finish.

A wool interlining will likely be unnecessary, as it limits the use of a coat. In our coldest weather, you will be comfortable with the coat worn over a suit, sweater or wool-jacketed dress. Check the button holes for firm stitching and strong ends and corners.

Buttons should be colorful, simple in design and durable. Small stay buttons underneath add to durability.

If it is a long coat, a continuous hem at front facing rather than a seam will permit lengthening of hemline for growth or fashion change.

The lining and coat that are hemmed separately at lower edge and bar tacked at the seams give the lining freedom of motion and do not pull on the coat.

Try on your coat, move your arms in all directions and sit down. If it is on over a suit if you plan to use it in this way to be sure it is roomy enough.

Peace and Good Will

Though it is customary for business men to add up their assets and liabilities occasionally, there comes one season in each year when all of us count our blessings and remember our friends.

The Yuletide is the favored season of fine fellowship, when our hearts are a little warmer and beat a little faster. And it is in keeping with this sentiment that we again express our appreciation for past favors and face the uncertain future with perennial optimism.

We have so much for which to be truly thankful. Our Gulf Coast region enjoys unprecedented prosperity, Mississippi moves on to new achievement, the country reaches its "peace-time" peak in production and employment, personal income and business earnings make new records and farmers have gathered an abundant harvest.

The bitter political campaign is all over and we enter an era of good feeling in which Democrats and Republicans join hands to form a harmonious front in an effort to make some needed economies. We have demonstrated again the efficiency of the American System of free enterprise and free elections functioning in the framework of the Federal Constitution, and we may set another effective example to merit the respect of America's foes and friends.

We are grateful for the good will of our increasing number of friends and fully appreciate your confidence and that wholehearted cooperation that makes the business of banking as pleasant as it is profitable. Our officials, directors, stockholders and employees wish you Health, Happiness and prosperity, and may the New Year be one of promise and fulfillment. As we turn to the opportunities and problems of the New Year resolved to do our utmost to strengthen our banking services we hope we can make many contributions with you in the constructive development of this growing community.

And as we exchange greetings with light hearts, it would also not be amiss to impart a fervent prayer for the safe return of the absent ones overseas in the service of our common country—May God speed the day of peace on earth and good will toward men when we will have in America what we most wish, our reunited families.

CHRISTMAS DRESSING RECIPE
Yuletide! . . . Christmas . . . the glorious season of rejoicing . . . of reunions . . . of specially prepared dinner.
Hollywood Bread lends distinctive grace to these memorable occasions.
Poultry stuffings made with Hollywood Bread are truly superb. Try Eleanor Day's famous Christmas Dressing recipe.
Melt in a frying pan, two or three tablespoons of fat; add one tablespoon chopped onion, and saute until tender.
Add one cup Hollywood Bread crumbs, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, one-half teaspoon each of sage, chopped celery, and parsley . . . and mix well.

Add one egg, slightly beaten, and mix well.
Then add one to two tablespoons of stock made off of the giblets.
Chopped walnuts, chestnuts or mushrooms may also be added.
This makes a loose, savory, light
poultry stuffing.
Hollywood Bread is baked without shortening. Buy a loaf, today!

WEEKLY NEWS LETTER

by
W. F. Bond, Director of Public Relations
State Department of Public Welfare

The ability to get along with people under any and all circumstances is one of the finest qualifications anyone can have in dealing with the public. It seems to be something of a gift, but most people have the ability to improve themselves in this respect to some extent. Those who have this very fine quality in them
make-up never allow themselves to be drawn into an argument always meet people kindly and cheerfully and show a sincere interest in the problems of all those with whom they deal. They look you in the eye and give you a hearty handshake. You can tell that they love their fellow man and will go out of their way to make others a little happier.

—Bruce and Gregory Favre visited their mother and family
over the weekend.

—Clement Bontemps is home
on furlough visiting his parents.

—Pfc. Clyde Favre is at home on a 15 day furlough visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest L.
Favre.
